

CHEERING POLULACE THRONINGS OLD ABBEY.

PROCESSION IN THE ABBEY ONE OF GREAT MAGNIFICENCE

The coronation procession was as follows:

Chaplain in Ordinary. Sub-Dean of the Chapel Royal.
Rev. Canon Hervey. The Dean of Windsor.
The Preliminary of Westminster. Dean of Westminster.
Pursuivants. Heralds.
Officers of the Orders of Knighthood.
Comptroller of the Household. Treasurer of the Household.
The Standard of Ireland, borne by the Right Hon. O'Connor Don.
The Standard of Scotland, borne by Henry Scrymgeour Wedderburn, Esq., Hereditary Standard-Bearer of Scotland.
Standard of England, borne by F. S. Dymoke, Esq.
The Union Standard, borne by The Duke of Wellington, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Vice Chamberlain of the Household.
The Keeper of the Crown Jewels, bearing on a cushion the two Ruby Rings and the Sword for the Offering.
The Four Knights of the Order of the Garter appointed to hold the Canopy for the King's Anointing; their Coronets Carried by Pages.
The Lord Chamberlain of the Household, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Lord Privy Seal, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Lord Steward of the Household, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Lord President of the Council, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Lord Chancellor of Ireland, attended by his Purse-Bearer, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Lord Archbishop of York, attended by a Gentleman.
The Lord High Chancellor, attended by his Purse-bearer, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, attended by two Gentlemen.

THE QUEEN'S REGALIA.

The Ivory Rod with the Dove, borne by Her Majesty's Crown, borne by the Duke of Gosford, his Coronet carried by a Page.
Two Sergeants-at-Arms.
The Lord Chamberlain of Her Majesty's Household, his Coronet carried by a Page.

THE QUEEN

In Her Royal Robes, Her Majesty's Train borne by the Duchess of Buccleuch, Mistress of the Robes, assisted by:
Hon. Robert Palmer, Marquis of Stafford.
Lord Claud Noel Hamilton, Earl of Maclefield.
Hon. Edward Lascelles, Hon. Arthur Anson.

H. E. Festing, Esq., J. N. Bigge, Esq.
The Coronet of the Mistress of the Robes carried by a Page.
Ladies of the Bedchamber in Waiting, viz.:
Countess of Gosford, Countess of Antrim.
Lady Suffield, Countess of Lytton.
Maid of Honor, viz.:
Hon. Sylvia Edwards, Hon. Mary Dyke.
Hon. Violet Vivian, Hon. Dorothy Vivian.
Women of the Bedchamber, viz.:
Lady Emily Kingscote, Hon. Mrs. Charles Hardinge.
Lady Alice Stanley, Hon. Charlotte Knox.

THE KING'S REGALIA.

St. Edward's Staff, borne by the Earl of Carrington, his Coronet carried by a Page.
A Golden Spur, borne by the Earl of Loudoun, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Sceptre with the Cross, borne by the Duke of Argyll, Hereditary Master of His Majesty's Household in Scotland, his Coronet carried by a Page.
A Golden Spur, borne by Lord Grey de Ruthyn, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Third Sword, borne by the Viscount Wolesey, his Coronet carried by a Page.
Curtana, borne by the Duke of Grafton, his Coronet carried by a Page.
Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

THE LORD GREAT CHAMBERLAIN OF ENGLAND, his Coronet carried by a Page.
THE HIGH CONSTABLE OF IRELAND, the Duke of Abercorn, his Coronet carried by a Page.
THE LORD HIGH STEWARD OF IRELAND, the Earl of Shrewsbury, with his White Staff, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Earl Marshal of England, the Duke of Norfolk, with his Baton, attended by two Pages.
The Sceptre with the Dove, borne by the Earl of Lucan, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Patina, borne by the Bishop of Ely.
The Sword of State, borne by the Marquis of Londonderry, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Chalioe, borne by the Bishop of Winchester.

THE KING

In his Royal Crimson Robe of State, wearing the Collar of the Garter, on his Head the Cap of State, His Majesty's Train borne by:
Earl of Portarlington, Marquis Conyngham.
Duke of Leinster, Earl of Caledon.
Lord Vernon, Lord Somers.
Viscount Torrington, and two Pages of Honor.
Hon. V. A. Spencer, assisted by Lord Suffield, the Master of the Robes, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Duke of Devonshire, followed by the Groom of the Robes, The Bishop of Bath and Wells.
The Bishop of Durham.
Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, Vice Admiral of the United Kingdom.
The Duke of Portland, Master of the Horse, his Coronet carried by a Page.
General Lord Chelmsford, Gold Stick in Waiting, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Duke of Devonshire, Captain-General of the Royal Archer Guard of Scotland, and Gold Stick of Scotland, his Coronet carried by a Page.
Earl Waldegrave, Captain of the Yeomen of the Guard, his Coronet carried by a Page.
The Lords in Waiting.
Sir Francis Knollys, Private Secretary to the King.
Major General Sir Arthur Ellis, Comptroller of the Household.
Col. R. Ellison, Ensign of the Yeomen of the Guard.
Col. F. B. de Sales La Terriere, Exons of the Yeomen of the Guard.
Major E. H. Elliot, Clerk of the Cheque to the Yeomen of the Guard.
The Right Hon. Sir D. M. Probyn, Keeper of His Majesty's Privy Purse.
The Right Hon. Sir D. M. Probyn, Keeper of His Majesty's Privy Purse.
The Right Hon. Sir D. M. Probyn, Keeper of His Majesty's Privy Purse.
The Right Hon. Sir D. M. Probyn, Keeper of His Majesty's Privy Purse.

HELD ON CHARGE OF OLD MURDER.

August W. Eckhardt Remanded to Jail Without Bail for Killing of Mary Gaston in 1898.

Charged with the murder of Mary Ann Gaston, alias "English Mary," August W. Eckhardt, alias Edward M. Edwards, alias John Martin, alias "Dutch Gus," was to-day held without bail.

The murder was committed in a saloon at No. 194 South street early in the morning of March 25, 1898. There was a big crowd in the place at the time, and a drunken brawl started. In the crowd were the Gaston woman, Eckhardt, Henry Smith, alias "Dutch Heine," Rosie Morris, alias "Sheeny Rosie," since dead; John Burke, alias

"Cokey," and William Bennett. Burke, who was a longshoreman, has since fled the country, and Bennett is serving a sentence on Blackwell's Island.

It is charged that while the row was at its height Eckhardt, who had made a reputation as an expert knife-thrower, threw a knife at the Gaston woman. She sank to the floor, killed instantly, with the knife sticking in her heart.

Eckhardt immediately fled from the city. On April 6, 1898, a Coroner's jury investigated the murder and returned a verdict charging Eckhardt with the crime. The Morris woman and Smith were arrested and sent to the House of Detention as witnesses. They were subsequently released in bail.

Recently the authorities learned that Eckhardt had returned to his old haunts about Cherry Hill. Detective Crouch, Greenville and Finnerman arrested him. Smith was also arrested.

FIRE AT SUMMER SCHOOL.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The building containing the bowling alley and occupied in part as servants' quarters at the Catholic Summer School of America, at Cliff Haven, was burned to the ground to-day. The loss is about $200.

HE CARRIED THE ORB. The Duke of Somerset. HE CARRIED THE SPURS. Lord Hastings. THE GREAT CHAMBERLAIN. The Earl of Arundel. HE PROVIDED THE GLOVE. The Duke of Newcastle. CANSTABLE OF SCOTLAND. The Earl of Erroll. SCOTS STANDARD-BEARER. The Earl of Lauderdale.

BISHOP J. M. FARLEY IS THE NEW ARCHBISHOP.

His Appointment by the Pope to Succeed the Late Mgr. Corrigan Is Informally Cabled to Prominent Catholics in This City.

It was informally announced to-day that Bishop John M. Farley had been selected by the Pope to succeed the late Archbishop Corrigan. There was no official confirmation of the report, but private cablegrams to prominent members of the Catholic faith in the city left no doubt as to Bishop Farley being chosen.

The official announcement is expected on Aug. 15, a feast day in the Catholic Church known as "Lady's Day."

John D. Crimmins, one of the most prominent Catholic Church men of the diocese, was called up on the long-distance telephone at his summer home at Noroton, Conn., by The Evening World regarding the report.

"It is undoubtedly true," said Mr. Crimmins, "that Bishop Farley has been chosen to the Archbishopric. Such important documents as his official notification are never cabled from Rome, and are always sent by mail. The decision of the Pope appointing Bishop Farley will probably be received here in three or four days."

Able and Popular Man. "Bishop Farley will prove a most able successor to Archbishop Corrigan, and his appointment will meet with the full approval of the diocesan consultants and the laity as well. He is a man of the people, and his appointment is gratifying to the Protestants of New York as well as to the Catholics, for Bishop Farley has long been regarded as one of the ablest men in the Catholic hierarchy."

Many prominent members of the Catholic faith called at Bishop Farley's residence this morning to congratulate him. To all the Bishop said that he had not yet received official confirmation of the appointment, but that private assurance from the Vatican gave the Episcopal Consultants to understand that positive word would be received on Aug. 15.

Mr. Farley was seen at his home by an Evening World reporter to-day and told that this newspaper had information that he had been chosen to succeed Archbishop Corrigan.

"I am just back from the country," said Mr. Farley, "and much that I have heard since my return is in the nature of news to me. There have been many rumors as to the choice of the successor to the Archbishop, but nothing of a definite or official nature has been received. I have had private communications from various sources concerning various matters, but the information contained in these communications cannot be divulged by me at this time.

BISHOP JOHN M. FARLEY.

"An old priest with whom I was friendly guided his life by wise precepts. I remember three of them. 'There is a great deal of human nature in every man.' 'You are never sure of what you are going to get until you have got it.' 'Business is business.'"

"I think a great deal of these precepts. The second, relative to the possession of an object desired is appropriate. I believe, in this connection."

The first official announcement of the appointment of the Archbishop of New York will be made through the Apostolic Delegate. The appointee, however, he may, has the option of naming the date of his installation and arranging the ceremony."

Bishop Farley was secretary to the late Cardinal McCloskey and had the affairs of the diocese at his fingers' ends. He was administrator interregnum following Archbishop Corrigan's death.

Bishop Farley was the overwhelming choice of the diocesan consultants at the meeting called to select the successor to Archbishop Corrigan. He was

PRESIDENT'S ORDER FOR PACIFIC CABLE

Mr. Roosevelt Makes Formal Announcement of Acceptance of the Commercial Company's Proposal.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—President Roosevelt to-day made formal announcement that he had granted the application of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company to land a cable on the shores of the United States, on the islands of Hawaii and Guam, and on the Philippine Islands, and for access to certain soundings and profiles in the possession of the Navy Department.

The text of the memorandum on the subject, which was prepared by the Department of Justice, was one of the subjects considered by the President, and Attorney-General Knox. As authorized by the President the memorandum reads:

"The President, having duly considered said application, herewith consents that the company may lay, construct, land, maintain and operate telegraphic lines of cables on the Pacific coast of the United States and the various territorial waters of the United States, to connect the city of San Francisco, Cal., the city of Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, and the island of Midway Islands, and the island of Guam. The island of Luzon, Philippine Islands, and a point on the coast of the empire of China, not yet determined. It is conditional to the granting of consent that the company was to file its written acceptance of the terms and conditions on which consent is given, to wit:

"That the company has not received any exclusive concession or privilege and is not combined or associated with any company or concern having such concession or privilege, such as would exclude any other company or concern formed in the United States of America from obtaining the privilege of landing its cable or cables on the coast of China."

That the company's cable shall touch at no other than American territory on the way from the United States to the Chinese Empire. The line from the Philippines to China shall be constructed by said company and operated independently of all foreign companies or concerns."

That the rates to be charged for commercial messages shall be reasonable. That the Government of the United States shall have priority for their cable, or cables, to them, over all other business, at such rates as the Postmaster-General shall annually fix. That the United States shall at all times have the right of purchase of the cable lines.

That the Government of the United States shall have authority to assume full control of the said cable when at war, or when war is threatened. That the Government of the United States shall have the right to use the cable and company above the grade of labor, after said cable shall have been laid, and shall be exclusively American citizens.

Power of the Press.

We have advertised Casarets in our paper for years. Today they have a greater sale than any similar medicine in the world. It is another proof that merit is backed by publicity. Success like that is stamped "G.O.C." and never said in bulk or jars, but always put up in a blue metal box with the well-known long-tailed "C" on the cover.

DISAPPOINTED, DEVANAY DIES.

Unable to Secure Political Preference Brother of ex-Judge Commits Suicide.

Keeping his promise to kill himself for the Republican party would do nothing for him, Gardner Devanay, brother of former United States Judge Devanay and a member of a family long prominent in American political and social affairs, committed suicide in the dining-room of the home of Mrs. Ellen W. Carrington, No. 274 Fourteenth street, Brooklyn, where he boarded, to-day. A rubber tube fed from the gas-jet to his mouth and told the means by which death was accomplished.

Devanay, who was thirty-eight years old and single, followed the advice of friends seven years ago and gave up a profitable tobacco business to enter politics. He was made Republican leader of the Twelfth Assembly District, Brooklyn, and held a number of small political positions, the last being a clerkship in the Register's office, from which he was removed nine months ago by the civil-service law.

Had Small Monthly Income. Since then he had been doing nothing except to expect another appointment from the Republican party. From the old Devanay estate, in France, he received a small monthly income, not sufficient for his maintenance.

Frequently Devanay had spoken to Mrs. Carrington of killing himself, telling her that the politicians who were a friends when he had money and position had forsaken him and would do nothing for him.

When he left the house last night he told Mrs. Carrington that he had an appointment with a politician concerning a position he sought, and that he did not get it. He would and all. The woman, who had been his benefactress, told him to do nothing rash, and he replied: "If the Republican party does not do something for me now, after I have spent a fortune for it, I will kill myself."

Returned in Early Morning.

He did not return to the house until 6 o'clock this morning. As he passed Mrs. Carrington's room he called out to her that he was in. A few hours later she found him in the dining-room dead. He was undressed, and had apparently left his own room to go to the room where he killed himself.

When Devanay retired from business to enter politics he was considered wealthy. He spent his money freely during the last seven years until he was forced to live on the salary he earned and the small income from France. He frequently complained that his former friends were deserting him since he was unable to spend the amount of money which made him welcome in politics.

Mrs. Carrington's home is only a few doors from the old Devanay homestead, where for a generation the Devanay family entertained lavishly. The suicide's sister is believed to be living in Washington, but her address is unknown. Mrs. Carrington. She is the only relative Devanay is believed to have had.

CHILD PREVENTED MOTHER'S SUICIDE

Little Daughter of Mrs. Sarah Frange Went "to Kiss Mamma Good-Night," and Found She Had Taken Poison

"Death would have been sweeter to me than the life I've been living," said Mrs. Sarah Frange in the City Hospital, Jersey City, this morning. Mrs. Frange is twenty-seven years old and has been married only a few years.

She retired early last night. One of her children, a little girl about to go to bed, entered the mother's room "to kiss mamma good-night."

She found the room dark and her mother moaning and groaning on the bed. She turned on a light and discovered an empty carbolic acid bottle on the floor beside the bed.

Mrs. Frange had attempted suicide. She was badly hurt about the mouth. She will recover, but her face will be disfigured.

TIRED SALESWOMEN.

Employers Should Be More Considerate. Mrs. Pinkham Asks Tired Women to Write Her for Advice.

In the vast retail establishments of large cities, many women are employed as saleswomen.

Men formerly held the positions that women now hold, and while women's organism is less strong than men's, they are expected to do the same work. Their duties compel them to be on their feet from morning to night, and many of them, in a short time, contract those distressing complaints called "female diseases."

Then occur irregularities, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, indigestion, leucorrhoea, general debility, and nervous prostration. They are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness.

In such cases there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. The following letters prove this. They also prove the value of Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

"I Can Work Every Day in the Week Now."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: I write this letter for you to publish for the benefit of poor, suffering women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a great deal of good. I have taken three bottles and feel like a new woman. When I began the use of your medicine I was hardly able to be up; could not do half a day's work. I ached from head to foot, was almost crazy, had those bearing-down pains, and stomach was out of order. Now all of these troubles have left me and I can work every day in the week and not feel tired."—MRS. JENNIE FREEMAN, No. 402 Pennsylvania avenue, Lima, Ohio.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: I have read with interest your advice to others so much that I thought I would write to you, for I have been suffering for a long time. This I did some time ago.

"Now I can hardly find words to thank you for your wonderful Vegetable Compound and advice.

"I was in a terrible state, every part of my body ached, was very nervous, had hysterical spells. I think I would have become insane had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Your medicine has cured me and I cannot express my thanks."—MISS HATTIE DE GROOT, Sugarbush, N. J. (March 8, 1901).

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other person can give such helping advice to women who are sick as can Mrs. Pinkham, for none have had such a great experience—her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice free—if you are sick write her—you are foolish if you don't.

$5000 REWARD

ENGINEERS—Wanted, two licensed engineers for stationary work in Greater New York; ready employment to right party. Address, 675, 106 106 World.

ROOT ANSWERS IN MISS TAYLOR'S CASE

Young Woman Was Dismissed from War Department for Insubordination, He Holds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The answer of Secretary Root to the petition of Miss J. Taylor for a writ of mandamus to compel him to restore her to a clerkship in the War Department was filed here to-day. Miss Taylor was dismissed for insubordination on the Philippine Islands.

Secretary Root's answer says one of these published letters was referred by his direction to Miss Taylor for explanation or a statement, that Miss Taylor admitted its authorship without offering any justification or retraction of the policy of the Administration.

The Secretary of War was insubordinate and prejudicial to the order and efficiency of the service and he therefore caused her removal.

Secretary Root says his action was not taken because of Miss Taylor's political or religious affiliations and that all the acts of the department in the case were done in conformity with the civil service regulations.

Struck by a Train.

Joseph Peretto, twenty years old, of No. 24 Henderson street, Jersey City, was at St. Francis's Hospital in a dying condition, as the result of being struck by a train of the Erie Railroad.

Help Wanted—Male.

ENGINEERS—Wanted, two licensed engineers for stationary work in Greater New York; ready employment to right party. Address, 675, 106 106 World.